Gourmet Experience by the Nahuel Huapi Lake

Sailing across Nahuel Huapi's crystal clear waters we will arrive in the Victoria Island to spend the day on this unique spot.

After hiking across a forest of centennial cypresses and coihues, we will reach the shores where the chef will be preparing a gourmet lunch just for the guests.

While resting in this exclusive location by the lake, we will also be able to enjoy some local music, practice stand-up paddle, go biking around the island, for the chocolate lovers, involve in a chocolate tasting activity or

A close-up photograph of a King Penguin, showing its head, neck, and upper body. The penguin has a black head and neck with a bright yellow-orange patch on its throat and a long, pointed orange beak. Its body is white with a yellow-orange band across the chest. The background is a dark, rocky shoreline.

King Penguin Encounter and Patagonian Experience

In a bay of the Chilean Patagonia, sits a colony of King Penguins, the only one in the continent. After a short heli ride from Punta Arenas and crossing above the Strait of Magellan, we will arrive in a Patagonian Ranch, just 5 minutes from the penguin rookery. The visit to this Reserve will teach us about the conservation and research activities that are taking place at the moment.

This unique experience will also include the visit to the nearby ranch, where we will not only learn about the locals and their way of living in this remote place, but will also taste a Patagonian Lamb for lunch, before returning back to Punta Arenas.

Millenarian Culinary Traditions in Cusco

About an hour away from Cusco, and south of the Sacred Valley, the Incas had an agricultural experimental site as a round amphitheater with different terraces, named Moray.

Nowadays it is an archaeological site where nearby the famous Chef Virgilio Martínez set his own culinary experimental center. Culture, tradition, millenarian wisdom, agricultural science, nutrition and health are some of the words associated with this initiative.

This gastronomic experience focuses not only in the final dishes, that you will be able to taste, but also in learning about the production of its ingredients, still

Hot Balloon Ride on the Colchagua Vineyards

Discover the Colchagua valley from the air, floating to the rhythm of the morning breeze while the first rays of the sun reveal the landscape. Flying in a hot air balloon is slow, clean, and silent; it allows you to relax and admire the magnificent scenery made up by the vineyards and the Andes in the back. After landing, you will be able to have some snacks, before continuing to the next stop in a nearby winery.

Finish this tour with a private guided wine tasting followed then by a special lunch that will allow you to discover some of the local dishes and the signature wine of Chile, the deep red Carmenère.

Overflight at the End of the World

At the end of the plains of the Argentinean Patagonia, the Andes Mountains stand out in the landscape displaying its glacier-meltwater valleys, green lagoons and ancient forests, before plunging into the Beagle Channel to the south.

This once-if-the-lifetime experience will allow us to admire from the air this breathtaking landscape. We will fly around the Ushuaia Bay, appreciating the Olivia Mount and the Emerald Lagoon, before landing nearby the Alvear Glacier and make a toast. The next stop will be in the heart of the Andes, where we will have a picnic in some exclusive domes in such a remote location that will make us feel small, compared to the Nature surrounding us.

Arac Masic, the Ancestral Inca Marriage

The Arac Masic is an Andean ceremony conducted by a Shaman (priest) and takes place in the Sacred Valley of the Incas.

By continuing the traditions of their ancestors, the Incas, this Andean Priest will ask to the spirits of the Apus (mountains of sacred and energetic power), for the protection and the strength of the union of the couple.

On this mystical ceremony either single or already married couples can take part, and the aim is to establish the spiritual bond with Nature and to achieve the blessing of it forever.

Wine Tasting and Barbecue among Vineyards

With this experience around the farm and vineyards conducted by the winemaking team, we will be able to learn about the characteristics of the soil and varieties of the area. Along the tour, there will be some stops to try the winery wines, paired with some tapas, before ending the visit inside the winery itself.

Then, especially located between vineyards and in a Natural Reserve within the Uco Valley of Mendoza, the local chef will delight us with a traditional Argentinean "Asado" (Barbecue), accompanied by vegetables from the garden and paired with different wines, without leaving aside the Argentinean

Looking at Rio de Janeiro from the Sea

Rio de Janeiro is famous for its breathtaking landscape, its laid back beach culture and its annual carnival. Everyone visiting the city should laze on the shores of Ipanema and Copacabana beaches, marvel with the statue of Christ the Redeemer and take the cable car up Sugarloaf Mountain to get spectacular views... but feeling the wind blowing in your face as you sail towards the Cagarras Islands, a global migratory bird paradise, is definitely another unique experience.

On this exclusive sailing, you will be able to admire not only the sea life around this archipelago, but also the Rio de Janeiro skyline from the sea, relax in the sun, dive and even get a session of spa
